BRIAN REED ELECTED TO AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF AIRPORT EXECUTIVES BOARD OF DIRECTORS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. – OCTOBER 13, 2009 – Brian Reed, Senior Vice President – Aviation for RS&H, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Washington, D.C.–based American Association of Airport Executives (AAAE), a leading advocacy group for airport executives. Reed is the first corporate representative to sit on that association’s board of directors.

AAAE accredited members, upon recommendation of the association’s board of directors, voted overwhelmingly to approve bylaws amendments to add two corporate member representatives to the AAAE board in its 80-year history.

As Senior Vice President – Aviation for RS&H, one the nations leading facilities and infrastructure consulting firm whose client-centered program structure provides value-added solutions to clients around the world, Reed has led a his program to be among the top aviation architectural and engineering firms in the nation

“Representing corporate members on the AAAE Board is important for the association, its membership, and is a personal honor,” says Reed. “The goal is to foster communication, participation and value for both corporate members and the entire AAAE association.”
